Hi again David

We have heard a rumour that the rainbow crossing is to be installed this weekend. Is this the case? This means that we need to urgently resolve whether we can reach an agreement on a possible exemption or not. Can you please send me through the final design as a matter of urgency?

We remain very concerned about the safety of the proposal, and need to review the final designs in order to provide you with our formal view.

As you know, the proposal conflicts with the Rule in a number of ways. If we are unable to consider and assess the designs in order to get some assurance of the safety, then we will not be able to grant an exemption - and, as you know, we would much prefer to be able to work with you on an exemption and then monitor the installation, as we have discussed.

Regards

Emma
