Consultation on proposed traffic resolutions for Wellington's Golden Mile, 26 April - 23 May 2023

Wellingtonians have told us they want a city with fewer cars so it's easier and safer to move around. We've listened, and we're changing the way Wellingtonians move around the Golden Mile, prioritising public transport and people, whether they're relaxing, walking, or on buses, bikes or e-scooters.

We're creating special vehicle lanes to improve reliability of bus services, as well as bike lanes and wider footpaths to prioritise walking and cycling. New shared spaces, plantings, seating, and other improvements will aim to revitalise the city centre's retail, social, cultural, and entertainment experience.

To deliver this vision, we've had to balance all the needs of the city to deliver more of the things Wellingtonians have asked for. As promised, we're checking in with you to make sure things like access, deliveries, loading zones, mobility parking, and personal safety have been well considered in the improvements and design changes that people's feedback has influenced.

Previous engagement was focused on the layout and design of the street environment, and we also shared early ideas about how the traffic controls could work. You can find more information about previous engagement and design development on www.lgwm.nz

Next steps

Now we're consulting on the proposed traffic resolutions that will enable these proposed changes to be implemented.

Your feedback on the proposed traffic resolutions that set out a range of proposed traffic and parking restriction changes, including changes to loading zone times, special vehicle lanes and mobility parks, is an important part of the process.

Have your say

In this [survey], you can choose if you want to give quick feedback about the proposed changes to the Golden Mile, or detailed feedback on the different sections of the Golden Mile. You'll also be able to upload any relevant documents to support your feedback.

The survey takes about 5-10 minutes to complete. Feel free to skip questions. You don't have to answer them all.

Consultation closes at midnight on Tuesday 23 May 2023.
