

URBAN TRAFFIC SIGNAL INTERSECTIONS/TRAFFIC LIGHTS

Cross city streets safely

Changes to traffic signals can reduce the number of people killed or seriously injured by up to 25%

Urban intersections can be very busy places, with lots of people driving, walking and riding through them.

Changes to the phasing and timings of traffic signals can help people move more safely through intersections, reducing the number of people killed or seriously injured by up to 25%*

* Standard Safety Intervention Toolkit, published February 2019, Waka Kotahi NZ Transport Agency. First edition. NZBN: 9429041910085.

nzta.govt.nz/safety