

Our next steps and what this means for you

Please complete the feedback form and tell us your thoughts.

Have we got it right?

You have seen the options that have been considered, including the ones we are leaning towards as our favoured. Our next steps are to further assess and refine the options. We expect to announce the preferred options later this year.

Over the next four months, we will:

- » Collect your feedback on the short list of options
- » Complete further assessments such as shelf life, design, environmental and social impacts, traffic modelling and cost effectiveness
- » Confirm a preferred option for each business case, the indicative costs and timeframe for construction
- » Decide how to proceed to implementation
