

To make motorcycling heaven better, we moved some earth.

The Southern Coromandel Loop is one of our favourite motorcycling roads. It's also the test bed for a new approach to motorcycle safety. Smarter road markings, more barriers, safer culverts and sealed entrances are just the start. We've also done substantial earthworks to improve the sight distance and readability of the road ahead.

All this work is designed to lower the risks you face when you're out riding, but we can't eliminate them altogether. The rest is up to you. Ride with your eyes open, your mind engaged and your senses alert. We want you to have an experience that's as safe as it is enjoyable.
