Improvements to the Fraser Street/ Cranford Street Intersection

How to use the new Intersection

The new traffic islands will make turning right out of Fraser Street easier and safer by ensuring Cranford Street drivers don't enter the right hand lane too soon or use the right turn lane as a short cut to Main North Road.

Drivers turning right from Fraser Street (the red car) need to give way to traffic on Cranford Street coming from the right and traffic on Cranford Street turning right into Fraser Street (the dark grey cars). They should then turn into the nearest lane between the two traffic islands as shown (red arrow).

Drivers on Cranford Street heading to Main North Road need to stay in the left lane until they have passed the new islands.

All drivers then need to indicate if they wish to change lanes as they approach the Cranford Street/Main North Road Intersection.

The Christchurch City Council has approved a new layout for the Fraser Street/Cranford Street Intersection and asked the CNC to make these changes. Two new islands will be constructed along Cranford Street as shown above (in orange). The islands will guide right turning traffic from Fraser Street into the correct lane and ensure drivers on Cranford Street don't stray into the right hand lane too early. This new layout should make this intersection easier and safer to use.

WHEN IS THIS HAPPENING?

This work will be done from 1am to 6.30am on Thursday 8 and Friday 9 February. The work needs to be done at night for safety and to reduce the impact on traffic using Cranford Street.

IMPACTS

While we do this work on Cranford Street there will be noise, flood-lights and flashing lights. We will also reduce Cranford Street to one lane in each direction. Access to and from Fraser Street will be possible at all times.
